PROVIDING JUSTICE FOR THOSE IN NEED

When making the decision on who you would like to represent you in your legal matter, it is incredibly important to choose a firm that is passionate about advocating for your rights. Jennifer Borja of the Borja Law, LLC is primarily focused on immigration and family laws, however, can assist you with many aspects of the law, including, but not limited to, personal injury, bankruptcy, and corporate law matters.

In her immigration practice, Jennifer has assisted clients from over 35 countries to obtain their US lawful permanent resident status or their US citizenship. Jennifer represents clients in removal/deportation proceedings and requests for relief so they may obtain legal status in the US. She is driven to assist clients who are survivors of child abuse and neglect, domestic violence, and other felonies to obtain U-visas or Special Immigrant Juvenile Status. Jennifer acquired some of her immigration, as well as corporate, law experience while an associate in a New York boutique law firm.

Jennifer has extensive experience in family law, ranging from annulment, contested and uncontested divorce matters, custody/parenting time, spousal support/alimony, child support, and issues involving distribution of marital assets. In addition, Jennifer worked as a contract attorney with the New Jersey Office of Parental Representation to defend parents in abuse & neglect allegations and termination of parental rights.

Prior to establishing Borja Law, Jennifer focused on employment law and criminal defense of public employees, such as teachers and police officers, for the State of New Jersey. Through this experience, Jennifer has acquired a keen understanding of the potential consequences that criminal charges may bear upon on one's current or prospective employment, especially in the public sector. Today, Jennifer applies her criminal defense experience to analyze the legal ramifications of the criminal charges faced by her nonimmigrant and immigrant clients to avoid removal/deportation.

Jennifer graduated from Rutgers University with a Bachelor of Science, double major in Computer Science and Economics. She earned her Juris Doctorate from New York Law School. During law school, she served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Doris Ling-Cohan, Justice of the New York Supreme Court. Jennifer also worked as a legal intern and Summer associate for a Wall Street based insurance defense firm where she assisted in defending personal injury claims.

In 2009, Jennifer founded Borja Law, LLC in New Jersey. Ten years thereafter, she expanded her law practice in Las Vegas, Nevada, where she moved to be closer to her family. Jennifer recognized the opportunity to grow her business in the booming economy of Las Vegas.

Borja Law firm prides itself on providing high quality, responsive legal service and personalized attention to clients. Driven to give back to her community, Jennifer has volunteered with KIND (Kids in Need of Defense) for their immigration proceedings; she also volunteers for the Legal Aid of Southern Nevada. Jennifer balances her work with spending time with her family and relieving stress while hiking, boxing, taking yoga and Pilates.

Jennifer Borja will handle your case from start to finish while providing a cost-effective solution to her client's legal needs. For your legal needs, contact Borja Law for a consultation at (702) 848-2838. MV
